Hello! My name is Lera. I think that it's better to go to school than parents will be your teacher, because at school teachers have much more knowledge than parents: each teacher studied his subject in depth, but the parents didn't. You can also make good friends at school. For example, at school I found a large number of friends and familiar. I think that school is a great place. But I love my beautiful home, but my school is better. There are ~~the~~ In my school working the great teacher. Most of all I like to go to Russian language. This language is very complex, but very interesting. I also love chemistry. For me, this is the most difficult subject, but I want to go to medical school to become a dentist. We have a strict teacher in English, because she shouts at us all the time. I don't think it's a bad thing, because we don't understand it any other way. In conclusion, I want to say that it's much better to study at school than to study at home with parents. Go to school, please.
